MARTIN MARIETTA MATERIALS, INC. ANNOUNCES RECORD THIRD-QUARTER RESULTS

RALEIGH, North Carolina (October 31, 2006) — Martin Marietta Materials, Inc. (NYSE:MLM), today announced record financial results for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2006, with earnings per diluted share of $1.65. Notable items for the quarter were:

- Net sales of $529.6 million, up 7% compared with the prior-year quarter
- Heritage aggregates pricing up 13.0%; heritage volume decreased 6%
- Aggregates segment gross margin up 70 basis points
- Magnesia Specialties earnings from operations up 13%
- Gross profit increased 10% over prior-year quarter
- Repurchased 359,800 shares of common stock

MANAGEMENT COMMENTARY

Stephen P. Zelnak, Jr., Chairman and CEO of Martin Marietta Materials, stated, "We are pleased to achieve record third-quarter results, given the unexpectedly sharp decline in aggregates volume. Pricing strength across the Aggregates segment led to a 70-basis-point increase in aggregates gross margin as a percentage of net sales during the quarter and contributed to an increase of 180 basis points for the year to date. Margin expansion was achieved during the quarter as gains in average selling price of 13% more than offset nearly 6% lower aggregates shipments volume. As we have indicated, aggregates demand is being affected by the decline in homebuilding activity across most of the Corporation's market areas, particularly in the Midwest and North Central areas. A pullback in infrastructure spending in North Carolina and South Carolina, as well as weather and transportation issues in certain areas — most notably in September, also had a negative impact on volume. In particular, repair activities by the Corps of Engineers on Lock 52 on the Ohio River significantly curtailed river shipments to the Louisiana area and sharply increased costs due to barge waiting time, resulting in a $0.06 per share reduction in earnings. The issue is expected to be alleviated by the end of the year.

"The pricing environment for aggregates continues to be positive with volume in the Southeast and Southwest holding up well during the quarter. The recent reduction in energy-related cost should begin to show up in the fourth quarter.

"Third-quarter results for our Specialty Products segment, which includes the Magnesia Specialties and Structural Composites businesses, were very positive. Magnesia Specialties' net sales grew 16% as a result of improved pricing and volume of dolomitic lime to the steel industry and chemicals products to a variety of end users. Earnings from operations at Magnesia Specialties were $7.5 million compared with $6.7 million in the prior-year period. Specialty Products results for the third quarter included a pretax loss from operations in the Structural Composites business of $2.5 million in 2006 compared with $4.2 million in 2005, which included a $1.5 million inventory write-off.

-MORE-

MLM Reports Third-Quarter Results Page 2 October 31, 2006

"Selling, general and administrative expenses as a percentage of net sales remained flat at 6.7% for the third quarter 2006 compared with the prior-year quarter despite increased stock-based compensation expense of $2.7 million in 2006.

"Prior-year third-quarter net earnings per diluted share of $1.62 included $0.20 of favorable items related to tax liabilities and a significant land sale gain. Thirdquarter 2006 net earnings included a benefit of $0.06 per diluted share related to tax liabilities. After adjusting for these items, net earnings per diluted share increased 11%.

"We continue to focus on using our strong cash flow and excess cash to benefit our shareholders. During the quarter, we increased the common stock dividend by 20% and repurchased 360,000 shares of common stock at an aggregate cost of $29 million. We increased our capital investments by $56 million for the year to date as we worked on major plant projects that increase capacity and are expected to reduce production costs. We also made a $12 million voluntary contribution to our pension plan. Our objective continues to be to increase shareholder returns through the effective utilization of excess cash."

2006 OUTLOOK

The outlook for remainder of 2006 is positive based on continued improvement in pricing and an anticipated reduction in energy costs through the balance of the year. The Corporation currently expects aggregates pricing to increase an average of 12.5% to 13.5% for the year. Aggregates shipments volume is expected to decline 1% to 3% for the year. However, the estimate of aggregates shipments volume continues to be the most uncertain element of the earnings forecast due to the dynamics of the current construction markets. For the full year 2006, the Magnesia Specialties business is expected to generate between $30 million and $32 million in pretax earnings. The Corporation continues to work on the goal of increasing revenues in the Structural Composites business to a level that will support breakeven operations. However, a $7 million to $9 million loss from these operations is expected for the year.

Against this backdrop, management currently expects net earnings per diluted share for the fourth quarter to range from $1.22 to $1.42 and the range for the year is $5.15 to $5.35, inclusive of $0.05 to $0.07 per diluted share for the initial expensing of stock options under FAS 123(R), Share-Based Payment. The earnings estimates exclude the impact of any potential writedowns in product lines of the Structural Composites business.

RISKS TO EARNINGS EXPECTATIONS

The fourth quarter is particularly subject to volatility due to the possibility of the early onset of winter and its effect on volumes and profitability. The level of aggregates demand in the Corporation's end-use markets and the management of the costs of production will affect profitability in the aggregates business. The availability of transportation in the Corporation's long-haul network, particularly the availability of barges on the Mississippi River system and the availability of rail cars and locomotive power to move trains, affects the Corporation's ability to efficiently transport material into certain markets, most notably Texas and the Gulf Coast region. The timeliness of Lock 52 repairs during the fourth quarter is critical. Production cost in the aggregates business is sensitive to energy prices, the costs of repair and supply parts and the start-up expenses for large-scale plant projects coming on line in 2006. The Magnesia Specialties business is sensitive to changes in natural gas prices and is dependent on the steel industry for its sales of dolomitic lime. The Structural Composites business is a start-up operation, and its earnings and support of the carrying value of its business assets are dependent on the level and timing of military and commercial orders for composite panel products.

If you are interested in Martin Marietta Materials, Inc. stock, management recommends that, at a minimum, you read the Corporation's current annual report and 10-K, 10-Q and 8-K reports to the SEC over the past year. The Corporation's recent proxy statement for the annual meeting of shareholders also contains important information. These and other materials that have been filed with the SEC are accessible through the Corporation's Web site at www.martinmarietta.com and are also available at the SEC's Web site at www.sec.gov. You may also write or call the Corporation's Corporate Secretary, who will provide copies of such reports.

Investors are cautioned that all statements in this press release that relate to the future involve risks and uncertainties, and are based on assumptions that the Corporation believes in good faith are reasonable but which may be materially different from actual results. Forward-looking statements give the investor our expectations or forecasts of future events. You can identify these statements by the fact that they do not relate only to historical or current facts. They may use words such as "anticipate," "expect," "should be," "believe,' and other words of similar meaning in connection with future events or future operating or financial performance. Any or all of our forward-looking statements here and in other publications may turn out to be wrong.

Factors that the Corporation currently believes could cause actual results to differ materially from the forward-looking statements in this press release include, but are not limited to the level and timing of federal and state transportation funding, particularly in North Carolina, one of the Corporation's largest and most profitable states; levels of construction spending in the markets the Corporation serves; the severity of a continued decline in the residential construction market; unfavorable weather conditions, particularly the early onset of winter; the volatility of fuel costs, most notably diesel fuel and natural gas; continued increases in the cost of repair and supply parts; transportation availability and costs, notably barge availability on the Mississippi River system, the timely repair of Lock 52 and the availability of railcars and locomotive power to move trains to supply the Corporation's Texas and Gulf Coast markets; the sensitivity of the fourth quarter's results due to typically lower production levels and related profitability; continued strength in the steel industry markets served by the Corporation's Magnesia Specialties business; successful development and implementation of the structural composite technological process and commercialization of strategic products for specific market segments to generate earnings streams sufficient enough to support the Structural Composites business' recorded assets; and other risk factors listed from time to time found in the Corporation's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Other factors besides those listed here may also adversely affect the Corporation, and may be material to the Corporation. The Corporation assumes no obligation to update any such forward-looking statements.

Additional Information about Non-GAAP Financial Measures Available on the Corporation's Web site

From time to time management may publicly disclose certain "non-GAAP financial measures" in the course of our financial presentations, earnings releases, earnings conference calls, and otherwise. For these purposes, the SEC defines a "non-GAAP financial measure" as a numerical measure of historical or future financial performance, financial position, or cash flows that excludes amounts, or is subject to adjustments that effectively exclude amounts, included in the most directly comparable measure calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP in financial statements, and vice versa for measures that include amounts, or is subject to adjustments that effectively include amounts, that are excluded from the most directly comparable measure so calculated and presented. For these purposes, "GAAP" refers to generally accepted accounting principles in the United States.

Non-GAAP financial measures disclosed by management are provided as additional information to investors in order to provide them with an alternative method for assessing our financial condition and operating results. These measures are not in accordance with, or a substitute for, GAAP, and may be different from or inconsistent with non-GAAP financial measures used by other companies.

Pursuant to the requirements of Regulation G, whenever we refer to a non-GAAP financial measure, we will also generally present, on this Web site, the most directly comparable financial measure calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP, along with a reconciliation of the differences between the non-GAAP financial measure we reference with such comparable GAAP financial measure.

One such non-GAAP financial measure we may present from time to time is Earnings before Interest, Income Taxes, Depreciation, Depletion and Amortization ("EBITDA"). EBITDA is not a measure of financial performance under GAAP. Accordingly, it should not be considered as a substitute for net earnings (loss), operating earnings (loss), cash flow provided by operating activities or other income or cash flow data prepared in accordance with GAAP. However, the Corporation's management believes that EBITDA may provide additional information with respect to the Corporation's performance or ability to meet its future debt service, capital expenditures and working capital requirements. Because EBITDA excludes some, but not all, items that affect net earnings and may vary among companies, the EBITDA presented by Martin Marietta Materials may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies. Martin Marietta Materials calculates EBITDA as:

Net earnings (loss) before interest expense, income tax expense (benefit) and depreciation, depletion and amortization expense. EBITDA is also before the cumulative effect of a change in accounting principle, if applicable.

The following tables present Martin Marietta Materials' reconciliations between net income and net cash provided by operating activities to EBITDA for the years 1994 to 2005, quarterly and year-to-date periods in 2005 and 2006 (see Web site for tables)

Other non-GAAP measures we may present from time to time are gross margin excluding freight and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues. The Corporation calculates gross margin excluding freight and delivery revenues as gross profit divided by net sales and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues as gross profit divided by net sales and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues, as it is consistent with the basis by which management reviews the Corporation's operating results. Further, management believes it is consistent with the basis by which investors analyze the Corporation's operating results given that freight and delivery revenues represent pass-through income and have no mark-up. Gross margin and operating margin calculated as percentages of total revenues represent the most directly comparable financial measures calculated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The following tables calculate gross margin and operating margin in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The following tables calculate gross margin and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and calculate gross margin excluding freight and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and calculate gross margin excluding freight and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues and operating margin excluding freight and delivery revenues for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2006 and 2005 (see Web site for tables)

An additional non-GAAP measure we may present from time to time is debt-to-capitalization, net of available cash and investments. The Corporation calculates the ratio by using adjusted debt, as it believes using available cash and investments to hypothetically reduce outstanding debt provides a more appropriate evaluation of the Corporation's leverage to incur additional debt. The majority of the Corporation's debt is not redeemable prior to maturity. The following tables calculate the Corporation's debt-to-capitalization ratio at September 30, 2006 and September 30, 2005 using total debt and total capital per the balance sheet, reconciles total capital using adjusted debt to total capital per the balance sheet and calculates total debt-to-capitalization, net of available cash and investments (see Web site for tables)

Another non-GAAP financial measure we may present from time to time is Free Cash Flow. Martin Marietta Materials calculates Free Cash Flow as:

Net cash provided by operating activities less capital expenditures and dividends paid. Proceeds from divestitures of assets are then added to determine Free Cash Flow.

The following table reconciles net cash provided by operating activities to free cash flow for the years 2001 to 2005 (see Web site for table)

The following tables reconcile:

- Earnings per diluted share for the year ended December 31, 2005 to earnings per diluted share excluding one-time favorable tax items and the pro forma effect of expensing stock options; and
- Earnings per diluted share to earnings per diluted share excluding discrete income tax events and land sale gains for the quarters ended September 30, 2006 and 2005. (see Web site for tables)
